2007 Christmas Picks

Blackmore's Night "Christmas Eve" (Minstrel Hall Music)
Former Deep Purple guitarist Ritchie Blackmore and vocalist Candice Night are back again with the very tasty Winter Carols CD. The renaissance-rich "Christmas Eve" serves as a nice change of pace from the traditional sounds of the season. (www.blackmoresnight.com)

Christina Linhardt "Bring A Torch" (circussanctuary.com)
The artistry of Christina Linhardt comes to the forefront with "Bring A Torch." Not your typical garden variety holiday song, but after a couple listens you'll find yourself humming along. Also included on the CD is her unique spin on "Ave Maria." (www.circussanctuary.com)

Mannheim Steamroller "Let It Snow, Let Snow, Let It Snow" (American Gramophone)
Chip Davis and company give us a real treat in the form of their first new Christmas album in six years! As to be expected, a year with a new Mannheim Steamroller CD is an event and Christmas Song is a virtual playground of holiday joy with "Let It Snow" being the lead focus track. But have fun with everything including "The Christmas Song" featuring the vocals of Johnny Mathis, "Christmas Lullaby" featuring Olivia Newton-John, classic Mannheim versions of "Santa Claus Is Comin' To Town," "Frosty The Snowman," "Feliz Navidad," and "Have Yourself A Merry Little Christmas." Here's where you can see Mannheim Steamroller on tour this year: 11/20 Boise, 11/23 Salt Lake City, 11/30 Portland, 12/2 Everett/Seattle, 12/4 Spokane, 12/6 Sacramento, 12/8 Fresno, 12/13 San Diego, 12/15 Phoenix, 12/17 Denver, 12/19 Kansas City, 12/26 Omaha.
